PREFACE

The following, copied from the preface of Volume I of this Record, will explain itself:—

“The method of arranging and numbering the names has been adopted as the simplest for reference, and at the same time will allow additional facts to be published in succeeding volumes without interfering with the present enumeration.”

The numbers will continue consecutively through each succeeding volume, every name bearing a number for future reference, as: “Jonathan Robinson (842), son of John Robinson (841); Thomas Macy (851),” etc.

This Record commends itself to all the various patriotic and hereditary societies whose members trace their ancestry to those who participated in the Revolutionary War, and other important events of our country. Every successive generation, with its biography and portraiture, becoming an additional branch of the family tree, and by the addition of new names (with references to their ancestors published in preceding parts) it will be easy for any person to trace his ancestry through all the various branches, both male and female, of the earliest settler or immigrant to this country, or even to ancestors who resided in Europe; it therefore becomes indispensable, imperishable, and invaluable to every possessor.

The name of the author is not given in the original.

(843) NOAH ROBINSON.

Son of Jonathan Robinson (842) and Mercy Chase. Born in Stratham, N. H., 7 May, 1757. Married, first, Nancy Wiggin (844); second, Elizabeth Walker Osborne (845), in Portsmouth, N. H., May, 1805; third, Rosamond Taylor.

Noah Robinson enlisted as Private about May, 1775, in the Second New Hampshire Regiment, commanded by Colonel Enoch Poor; promoted to Corporal and Sergeant in 1775; Ensign and Second Lieutenant in 1776; First Lieutenant in 1777; Captain-Lieutenant in 1779. He was in the battle of Trenton, New Jersey, 26 December, 1776, where over nine hundred Hessians were made prisoners; in the battle of Princeton, New Jersey, 3 January, 1777; in the first battle at Saratoga, New York (no doubt intended for the first engagement at Stillwater, 15 September, 1777), where he was severely wounded and sent to the hospital. Being in the hospital several months, he sufficiently recovered so as to join his regiment. He was in the battle of Monmouth, New Jersey, 12 June, 1778, when he was so overcome by the prevailing excessive heat that his health was impaired to such a degree as to prevent labor without great pain. Upon the reorganization of the army, in 1781, he became a supernumerary, and returned home. Soon after return from the army, 1781, he married Nancy Wiggin (844), of Stratham, N. H. In 1782 he joined the privateer Bucannier as Commander of Marines, and made a cruise to the English Channel, which was very successful. About 1794 he moved from Stratham to Epping. In 1789-90 he settled in New Hampton and built the Homestead (see engraving) in the nineties. Died in New Hampton, N. H., 10 February, 1827.

CAPTAIN JOHN MORRIS.

Son of Jacob Morris and Judith Coe. Born in Nantucket, Mass., 29 May, 1761. Married Sally Coffin, 8 February, 1787.

He was a seaman on the brigantine Lucy, Stephen Clay, Commander, in 1780, and was taken a prisoner of war; kept in a prison-ship anchored in the harbor of St. John. He taught his fellow-prisoners navigation by chalking on the floor or deck; and when released from imprisonment, was one of a band of brave and determined Americans who refused to obey an order from British officers to drink to the health of King George. Captain Morris was, from first to last, an ardent and active patriot, and not only imperiled his life for his country, but suffered terrible hardships during the long term of imprisonment. Later, he was Captain of a merchant ship, sailing between New York and Europe. Naval Service, Vol. LX, p. 91, names John Morris of Nantucket as a seaman on the brigantine Lucy, Stephen Clay, Commander, on 31 May, 1780. Died 28 October, 1848.

WILLIAM MITCHELL BUNKER.

(Residence, San Francisco, Cal.)

Son of Roland R. Bunker (860) and Julia A. Nye. Born in Nantucket, Mass., 6 November, 1849. Married Alice Booth, 20 September, 1877.

In 1863, Mr. Bunker, then thirteen years of age, went to San Francisco, and soon entered the service of the Bulletin, setting type, and at the same time writing letters for Eastern journals. For ten years he remained with the Bulletin, being at various times reporter, news editor, dramatic critic, and literary editor, but for most of the time he was city editor, a position he filled with signal ability. His willingness to undertake any duty assigned him, and his untiring zeal, rendered him a valuable member of the local staff, and once in pursuit of an item, he could be depended on to obtain it. Some of his best work was done in the Modoc War, when he surmounted many difficulties in getting his notes with news of the capture of Captain Jack to the Associated Press and the papers of which he was a regular correspondent, before the War Department courier got through.

A man of remarkable activity and of varied talents, he did not long remain in a subordinate position; and, in 1875, purchased the Daily Report property, and took charge of the editorial department, over which he has since presided with tact, energy, and ability.

Mr. Bunker is prominent in the Bohemian, Press, and Olympic Clubs, is active in all movements for the public good, is a contributor to the magazine literature of California, and is an interesting public speaker.

In 1890 Mr. Bunker was chairman of the Citizens' Relief Committee for Unemployed and directed the collection and disbursement of a fund of $30,000, which was used in building parks and roads in Golden Gate Park. In 1894 he was chairman of a similar committee which raised and disbursed $92,000 for the same purpose. In 1897 Mr. Bunker was chairman of a similar committee, which raised nearly $35,000 and built the famous Balboa Boulevard, and Mr. Bunker was also chairman of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, appointed by delegates from the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, and the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association, and through his efforts, a special representative was sent to the Orient. In addition to other public positions, he holds that of President of the State Development Committee.

JOHN GRAY.

Son of John Gray (888) and Anne Hebbard. Born in Lebanon, Conn., 13 December, 1739. Considering himself neglected by his stepmother, he left home; he was met on the road by the pastor of the parish, Rev. Cotton Mather Smith, who took him (after hearing his story) to the Selectmen, who, with the consent of the father, bound him until of age to the pastor. He married Betsey (Elizabeth) Skeel, 16 November, 1763, who was born at New Milford, Conn., 15 December, 1745. He was a staunch patriot, and the public official records show he was chosen to the responsible position of member of Committee of Public Safety for King's District, 6 May, 1777, and served during that year. It is said of him that when the army was in need, he would slaughter and send to it his last bullock. When the advance of Burgoyne's army required more volunteers at the front, he promptly shouldered his musket and joined the ranks. He participated in the battle of Stillwater and the triumph of Saratoga. He took letters from the church at Sharon, and united with the church at New Concord; but having become a Restorationist, was separated from it, though still a vigorous Sabbatarian and one of the informing officers to see to the strict enforcement of the Sabbath laws. He died, 22 September, 1822.

DR. OBED MACY.

Son of William Macy (927) and Mary Barnard (929). Born in New Garden, N. C., 14 December, 1801. Married Lucinda Polk (932) in Bunceville, Ind., 17 October, 1824.

Dr. Obed Macy and family moved to California, where those still living are now residing. On the first day of March, 1850, he, with his entire family, consisting of his wife and eight children, left the town of Washington, Davis Co., Ind., with ox-teams for California. They crossed the State of Illinois, and camped at the town of Kansas in the latter part of March, where his daughter Urania and her husband, D. W. Cheesman (951), joined the party 7 April, 1850. On 15 May the party left Kansas for California, being in the midst of the great emigration of that year. On 14 June, Charles was seized with cholera, died, and was buried at Fort Kearney the same day. On 16 August they arrived at Salt Lake City, having lost twenty-one days out of the first fifty traveling days, by cholera in the train. They did not dare attempt to cross the Sierras on the northern route, by way of the Humboldt Desert, but re-outfitted at Salt Lake for the southern or Fremont route, and left that place 8 October, 1850; suffered innumerable hardships and privations en route by the lack of water and feed for the teams, which nearly all perished thereby. Arrived in San Francisco 7 February, 1851. Died in Los Angeles, Cal., 9 July, 1857.
